

IMPROVEMENTS SEEN AT OCEAN BEACH

Several cottages at Ocean Beach are undergoing improvements and alterations to prepare them for occupancy for the season. The cold weather has retarded the beach season somewhat, but Memorial day, which is usually looked upon as the official opening day for the beach season, is expected to see a general trend beachward.

Judge Alfred Coit's cottage on the beach front has been covered with shingles and is undergoing other improvements. The cottage, being built for Socrates Patterson in Bentley avenue, is framed and roofed and the cottage at Riverbend place, owned by Edmund C. Johnston, is undergoing changes. Exterior repairs are being made at the Bindloss cottage in Bentley avenue.
